Upgrade to Sealite's Self-Contained Lantern Range

Sealite's range of self-contained lanterns are being transitioned from aluminium to composite white moulded tops and bases. The updated lanterns will be lighter, more environmentally friendly and have the additional benefit of latest generation solar panels with improved solar charge efficiency.

The improved lanterns will now be standardised in a neutral white coloured solar chassis with the five colour variants to be distinguished by the internal disk on top of the light head. The neutral chassis colour will assist customer inventory management. The upgraded lanterns are the 3-5NM+ self-contained range and include the SL-C310, SL-C410, SL-C415, SL-C420 lanterns and the SL-BLS-3 Bargesafe barge light.

Sealite's new range are designed specifically to withstand the tough marine environment, provide years of reliable service and are a low maintenance solution for your next marine project.
